1. The Applicant is hereby notified that this International Preliminary Examining Authority transmits herewith the International Preliminary Report on patentability and its annexes, if any, established on the International Application.
2. A copy of the report and its annexes, if any, is being transmitted to the International Bureau for Communication to all the elected Offices.
3. Where required by any of the elected offices, the International Bureau will prepare an English translation of the report (but not of any annexes) and will transmit such translation to those offices.
4. REMINDER

The Applicants must enter the national phase before each elected Office by performing certain acts (filing translations and paying national fees) within 30 months from the priority date (or later in some Offices) (Article 39(1)) (see also the information sent by the International Bureau with form PCT/1B/301).

Where a translation of the International Application must be furnished to an elected Office, that translation must contain a translation of any annexes to the International Preliminary Report on patentability. It is the Applicant's responsibility to prepare and furnish such translation directly to each elected Office concerned.

For further details on the applicable time limits and requirements of the elected Offices see Volume II of the PCT Applicant's guide.

The Applicant's attention is drawn to Article 33(5), which provides that the criteria of novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability described in Article 33(2) to (4) merely serve the purpose of International Preliminary Examination and that "any Contracting State may apply additional or different criteria for the purposes of deciding whether, in that State the claimed invention is patentable or not" (see also Article 27(5)). Such additional criteria may relate, for example, to exemptions from patentability, requirements for enabling disclosure of the invention and clarity and support for the claims.

International Application No. PCT/EP2004/011449

Item V

1. In the following notification, reference is made to the following documents

D1: US 5 509 261 A (WASSENHOVEN ET AL) 23 April 1996 (1996-04-23)

2. Document D1 is regarded as the closest prior art. It discloses (the references in brackets relate to this document):

Method for producing an effect yarn on an open-end rotor spinning machine, which is formed from an alternating line-up of webs and of effects consisting of predetermined thickenings (column 3, line 4 to 9), and in which the effect yarn is reconnected by means of a piecer after yarn interruptions (column 7, line 12 to 35).

- 2.1 The method of the independent claim 1 differs in that in the piecing region following the piecer (31), which comprises the run-up phase of the spinning rotor (11), an effect formation is carried out in the yarn. The subject of claim 1 is therefore novel (Article 33(2) PCT).
- 2.2 The document D1 implicitly discloses:
Effect yarn, which is formed from an alternating line-up of webs and of effects consisting of predetermined thickenings.
- 2.3 The effect yarn of the independent claim 1 therefore differs in that the effect yarn (16) also has effects (37, 39, 41) in the piecing region of the yarn directly following a piecer (31). The subject of claim 7 is therefore also novel (Article 33(2) PCT).
- 2.4 The object to be achieved with the present invention can therefore be regarded as implementing a method for producing an effect yarn, with which an effect yarn is produced with non-conspicuous piecer zones.
- 2.2 The method proposed in claim 1 of the present application for this object and the effect yarn defined in claim 7 resulting therefrom, is not made obvious by any of the documents cited in the search report. On the contrary, document D1 points away from the solution described in the application (see column 1, line 50 to 58).

3. Claims 2 to 6 are dependent on claim 1 and therefore also meet the requirements of the PCT with regard to novelty and an inventive step.
